DETAILED ACTION

Inventorship

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 2, 4, 21, 22 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pottorff (6,148,710) in view of Straka et al. (5,993,090). Pottorff teaches a slitter and hole punch device. The device is best shown in Figures 1 and 2 and described in columns 3 and 4. The apparatus includes a slitter and punch unit (20) that has a hole punch element (24). The hole punch element has a jagged edge of cutting teeth (dol. 3, lines 40-41). The punch unit is inserted into an adapter (30) that is attached to the bottom end of shaft (16). The shaft is part of a reciprocating mechanism (15) for punching holes in plastic film. The Examiner considers the shaft (16) to be an alignment arm as required by applicant in the instant claims and (3) the adapter (30) to be an alignment block since it aligns the hole punch element (24) with the shaft (16) and channel (17). Pottorff does not teach a piercing blade capable of producing a Z-shaped cut.

Straka teaches a marking punch used in a method of marking workpiece elements. The marking punch (22) is best shown in Figures 1, 3 and 4. The marking punch has the shape of letters or numbers in order to allow for the marking of workpieces (column 1, lines 19-27). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine the alphanumeric shaped punching element from Straka with the punch of Pottorff. One would add the element from Straka to form alphanumeric shaped cuts. This would allow for the labeling of the punched piece by via the cutting element.

Response to Arguments

4. The rejection of claims 1, 2, 4, 21, 22 and 24 under USC 102 as being anticipated by Pottorff has been overcome by Applicant's Arguments. See Applicant's Response dated 5/10/06; Advisory Action dated 6/27/2006; and Interview Summary with Examiner Warden dated 7/20/06. A new rejection is provided under Pottorff in view of Straka.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 5-10 and 25-30 are allowed.
6. Claim 23 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion
